BOREAL EXPEDITION TRUCK

In Iceland the kids call the firetrucks and ambulances “Babu” as the air horn makes a “babubabubabu” sound.

This Expedition Truck is the perfect vehicle for nature lovers, photographers, scientists, adventurers, Northern Lights seekers and everyone else who loves to travel differently and close to nature.

The cab of the Truck seats six people comfortably including the driver, and it can be converted to a bed with a mattress.

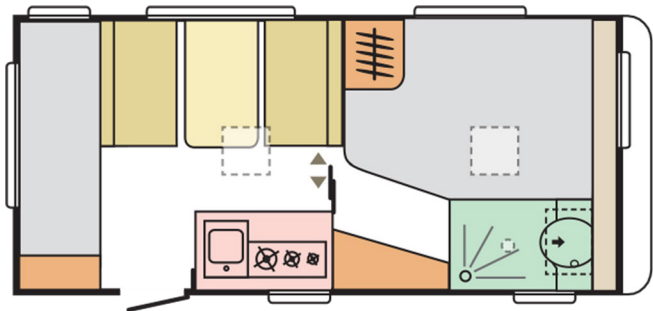

This former Fire Truck had the role of saving lives. Now it rejuvenates souls in the nature of Iceland.

“Babu” is a four door Mercedes Benz double cab 1222 AF year 1984 from the fire station in Buchloe in Germany; imported with some 30.000 km on. Imported to Iceland 2017, the fire gear was dismantled and given to a small fire station in the south of Iceland. Babu has a 5 gear gearbox, lockable quadratrac transfer case for 4x4 with high and low gear. It can easily be driven on mountain roads in low gear without locked transfer case for more easy driving. The big tires can easily be deflated and inflated.

The rear axle was moved almost one meter to the rear, so Wheelbase is 4.54m instead of 3.6m. The frame was lengthened to the rear to support a Caravan. An Adria Altea 472 PK year 2018 was mounted on a frame bolted on rubber supports on the original frame. By doing that the truck frame can be as flexible as before without damaging the Caravan and thereby be a part of the suspension of the truck. The Caravan has a double bed and a bunk bed (with two single beds). There is also the option of converting the table into a cot. Combined Webasto (Gas) water boiler and air heater supplies the Caravan with hot water for the tap and the shower. Another Gas heater also heats up the air. The cab of the Mercedes Truck seats six people comfortably including the driver, and rear seats can be converted to a one or two person bed with a mattress. There is also a Webasto air heater.
